

CLAIMS

We claim:

1. A method of according preferred transport to a content, the method comprising:
 - identifying a node, the node being contained in the transmission path of the content;
 - determining transport parameters based on the identified node; and
 - transmitting at least part of the content based on the determined transport parameters.